

Q	F	A
<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Why please gods? How did people know about priests? 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> More specializations Some special in trade 	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Felt threat Pharaohs informed
Why did the Kings care about The priests Why mummify	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> people were able to get good 	Priests were also
How did work and social Roles affect people in ancient Egypt	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> at jobs which were often 	considered holy
How did learning advance in Ancient Egypt	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> priests please gods 	To keep loved ones
What religious beliefs did Egyptians hold?	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Gods angry - no flood 	Their jobs and ranks
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Trojan = slave 	would be passed
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> the slaves died 	through generations
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> Women had rights 	Most children
	<ul style="list-style-type: none"> children given togs 	learned their parents

Rich learn to write

• Life > - it
- Gods favor
Egypt

- Polytheism

• Mummified

dead for afterlife

They believed that the phar
aohs controlled
the weather

As the Egyptians grew to be more complex, they specialized in more jobs. Their religion believed that the afterlife was positive rather than negative, and they were polytheistic.